extending over more than eight months and it is the first official United States Government report on Bohemians.

That part which deals with German propaganda is a résumé of the various activities directed by Reichel, von Pappe, and other plotters. The report on Bohemians deals with the subject from a new angle. After telling what Bohemians do, it studies the system, theoretically, in the United States and points out what would happen if the American Government were replaced by one patterned after the "red terror" of Russia.

In compiling the report Major E. Lewis Hesse, assisted by the controller and at his disposal the diplomatic and other information on Bohemian candidates in the archives of the American and British Governments.

Study of Bohemian "Law."

"In order to demonstrate the possible connection and relation between the principles of government introduced by those claiming to exercise authority in Russia and the several activities now being carried on in the United States, it was deemed essential that a careful inquiry be made to determine the exact nature of the so-called principles of government now being applied in Russia," says the report.

"The report includes the Constitution and a compilation of many of the so-called laws in force in Russia from which the nature of the paper government can be determined, and the results of many experiments of the attempted application of the paper government disclose the character and nature of the actual government in practical operation. The investigation which your committee has conducted convinces it that few of value for the adoption or execution, in this country, of the present Russian Federal Federal Soviet Republic are familiar with the fundamental principles upon which the Government is attempting to perpetuate itself. Consequently the activities growing out of developments in Russia has largely degenerated into appeals to the prejudice and the admiration that are inherent in the selfish nature of most individuals and little or no appeal has been made to the intelligence of the people.

"It is therefore not surprising that the word "Bohemian" has now become merely a generic term, and in America is nothing more than a slogan of the elements of terror and discontent.

"By reason of their ignorance as to what Bohemians do as a rule of political and social events in Russia mean, almost every classified element, from the radical anarchist to the theoretician

Rallying Cry Here.

It is significant, however, that in the United States only a portion of the so-called radical revolutionary groups and organizations accept in its entirety the doctrine of the Bolshevik. They have, however, all joined upon Bolshevism as a rallying cry and are endeavoring to unite all of these elements under that banner for the purpose of accomplishing the initial step in their common formula, to wit, the overthrow

THE Senate Judiciary Committee will submit this week its report on German propaganda and Bolshevism. The report has been considered after an investigation extending over more than eight months and it is the first official United States Government report on Bolshevism.

That part which deals with German propaganda is a résumé of the various activities directed by the "Kluge, von Pappe, and other plotters. The report on Bolshevism deals with the subject from a new angle. After telling what Bolshevism is, it applies the system, theoretically, to the United States and points out what would happen if the American Government were replaced by one patterned after the "red terror" at Moscow.

In compiling the report Major E. Lewis Hunter, counsel for the committee, and his disposal the diplomatic and other information on Bolshevism available in the archives of the American and British Governments.

Study of Bolshevist "Law."

"In order to determine the possible economic and political relations between the principles of government advocated by those claiming to exercise authority in Russia and the several activities now being carried on in the United States, it was deemed essential that a careful inquiry be made to determine the exact nature of the so-called petrifaction of government now being applied in Russia," says the report.

"The report includes the Constitution and a compilation of many of the so-called laws in force in Russia from which the nature of the paper government can be determined, and the treatment of many applications of the abstract application of the paper government before the character and nature of the actual government in practical operation. The investigation which your committee has completed convinces it that few of either the influence or character, in this country, of the present Russian Federal Council Formed Republic are favorable with the fundamental principles upon which the Government is attempting to perpetuate itself. Consequently the nation, being out of development in Russia has largely degenerated into a people of the proletariat and the administration that are inherent in the selfish nature of most individuals and little or no appeal has been made to the intelligence of the people.

"It is therefore not surprising that the word 'Bolshevism' has now become merely a generic term, and in America is nothing more than a slogan of the elements of unrest and discontent.

"By reason of their ignorance as to what Bolshevism is as a code of political and social morals in Russia today, almost every element of dissent, from the radical anarchist to the theoretician
