

52027

Shangrila
A BOUTIQUE COLLECTION

52021

The handloom cotton is a type of fabric that is woven using hand operated looms. Two sets of interlacing yarns, the warp (length) and weft (width), are woven on a mechanised loom operated by weavers.

Shangrila
A BOUTIQUE COLLECTION
A Product by Sweet Group

Naira vol-2

B R A S S O

52025

The resultant fabric is softer, more durable and much more comfortable than machine-made fabrics. Handloom cotton is more breathable and thus feels lighter in summers and provides more insulation in winters.

52023

52023

Shangrila
A BOUTIQUE COLLECTION

52030

The zari threads add the golden shimmer to the fabric in a very subtle yet beautiful way

The dyeing process also becomes easier for handloom cotton as the colour penetration is substantially more. Hues are absorbed better thus look resplendent on handloom cotton.