The King is beautiful with her. With her looks, with her movements and with the way she dresses. Her posture is impeccable in the inner recesses of his heart and soul. He wants to marry her and bring her to his palace. But he hesitates. Because even his palace with all its splendor is inadequate for someone so divine. He dreams, and sometimes prays for her.

In the sea of the mundane, you stand alone: a paragon of life in an otherwise everyday world. A vision of you, clad in our marvellous creations tells the story of an island surrounded by the vast and molten oceans, ever trying to chip at your beauty, but failing everytime. You stand unimpeded, untouched and unblemished.
