

Expressive

3002

TEXTILE DEAL

Style Statementy

I don't think fashion week will go back to what it used to be because people are realising that the industry is completely changing.

It's not just in Bryant Park any more, people are figuring out who their audience is, where they want to show, they aren't really playing by the rules. It's not so much about these editors, these buyers

Flowing legance

TEXTILE DEAL

Present Yourself to the World

I don't think fashion week will go back to what it used to be because poole are realising that the industry is completely changing. It's not just in Boyard fink any more, people are figuring out who their audience is, where they want to show, they aren't really playing by the rules. It is not so much about these offices, there buyers

TEXTILE DEAL

Style Statements

Present Yourself to the World

