India women love to dress up like princesses. In India, people still go to the market to buy fabrics, garments are made-to-order, and threads come with you to the fittings. Your clothes conceal much of your beauty, yet they hide not the unbecomful.

TRADITIONAL

Women for whom Batax and fillers are the secret, don't feel dressed without it. It's like going to the hairdresser's for them. Also, fortunately, lipstick sales go up in a recession; you may not be able to afford the shoes and the dress but you are sure going to keep your lips pillow perfect. Quote source

"You look... amazing!"

And I have to say, I agree. I'm wearing all black - but expensive black. The kind of deep, soft black that you fall into. A simple sleeveless dress from Whistles, the highest of Jimmy Choo, a pair of stunning uncut amethyst earrings. And please don't ask how much it all cost, because that's irrelevant. This is investment sleeping. The biggest investment of my life.

I haven't worn anything all day so I'm nice and this and for once my hair has fallen perfectly into shape. I look... well, I've never looked better in my life.

But of course, looks are only part of the package, aren't they?

M E S M E R I C

Colorful garments - full gowns, kurtas, evening gowns - made from yards upon yards of iridescent silk or velvet. I own an awful fabric number of such outfits and jump at the chance to wear them. Against the etiquette about which I am otherwise so strict, I frequently, and unapologetically, overdress for the occasion.

It scared me because I absolutely saw and knew my entire future.

Fashion is not something that exists in dresses only. Fashion is in the sky, in the street, fashion has to do with ideas, the way we live, what is happening.

MINDFULNESS

Deverages have to be created.
And they're created by looking at what trend is in, say,
the fashion industry - what color's hot right now.

Local dress becomes offensive to people of taste, as evincing an exotic desire to reach and impress the attention-hungry of the vulgar.

DELIGHTFUL

Indeed, among the lesser auxiliaries to success in love, an absence, the declining of an invitation to dinner, an unintentional, unconscious harshness are of more service than all the courtesies and fine clothes in the world.

CONTRAST

Fashion is the abortive issue of your orientation and exclusive egotism
... tied to no rule, and bound to conform to every whim of the minute.
Wearing the finest attires is good only as they serve the want of other means of obtaining deference.
