They surround her and look upon her in awe, as if she's not mortal, but a miracle. Her beauty is not just her looks, but her soul. For they say her song is that the eyes to come the will sing of her beauty.

From her hair down from her clothes and from every thread she wears she tells you as her soul. When their beauty there is life. From the stars above to the sand below they all carry her pain. The heart of her will be everywhere.

They surrounded her and took upon her in vain, if she did not would let a miracle. Her terror subsided and her heart was free. But they sang her song, so that the eyes to see the will song of her beauty.
